

Commentary

When you see the God in the other, you stimulate that Divinity within that person. It is a principle of sympathetic resonance in which a higher thought frequency brings a lower frequency up to a higher level. Now when we say "see" God in the other, that is not an optical event, but a quiet realization that the Christ dwells within their hearts also. This is the primary practice of the mystics of all ages. And the metaphysicians of all times have told us that what we "see" and dwell upon, we bring to life.

A GIFT this Christmas for Christ and His world:

Worse than a viral pandemic is the tragic ideological pandemic around us wherein people of different opinions and world views are at such angry odds with one another. Families torn apart about the vax and secular politics not to mention that we have been split by race, gender, social status, politics, and religion. The family of Man is hurting from the inside out. Please, this week find a way to reach out to someone in thought, prayer or by word who maybe has shunned you, or you are judging harshly for their worldview.

"The audacity of humility is to be the first to say 'I love you.'"

And isn't that the application and message of Christmas? Our loving Supreme God came as Jesus of Nazareth to LOVE US - into unity with Him!

Only Love, Jerry
