

Contemplations

The you that you think is you is really God's mechanism to experience His creation in a unique way.

You don't own it – you caretake it.