

The Wisdom of Shirdi Sai Baba and the Eastern Masters

“To try is my job; the giver of success is God. In the end, only He gives peace and your worries will vanish.”

Commentary

This one is short and sweet, but I thought it was a beautiful little exposition of the principle of surrender, especially as we integrate the mystical principle that “All there is is God” into living day-to-day in the “blue.” We must always put in the effort to achieve whatever result we want and think is for the best, but the outcome is up to God. Our reactions and motivations are the ones He has crafted into our individual natures and so He acts through and as us (“Christ has no body but yours...”). As Jerry often quotes at retreats: “Human initiative and Divine intervention emanate from the same source.”

This week’s quotation is from the Shri Sai Satcharita, Chapter 36, v. 132.

Love,
Erin